March 26

Spring Propagation, Kay Gordon

Spring is prime time to make more plants from those you have in your garden. Plant starts are great for filling in empty spaces left by winter's freeze. Learn propagation techniques that are appropriate for this time of year.

April 23

Vegetables in Containers, Carla Fulton

Learn how to grow vegetables in boxes and containers and which vegetables and varieties grow best in these conditions.

May 28

Renovating the Garden, Pat Roome

Want to improve your home landscape? Change an existing yard that has become overgrown or one that needs upgrading. This can mean less work, less water and more color throughout the year.

June 25

Plant Something Different, Susan Miller

Learn the characteristics of black, gold and chartreuse plants in the garden.

July 16

Backyard Composting, Fred Wemer

Expert composter, Fred Wemer, shares the basics of backyard composting of garden materials and kitchen scraps.

August 27
